Our Annual Excitement

It did begin to look as if Carmel's annual unusual event was not to occur in 1920. But it happened.

Shortly after noon last Thursday people on Ocean Avenue were startled by the report of a shot. A crowd immediately gathered and saw a soldier with a smoking Colt revolver running down San Carlos Avenue.

City Trustee M. J. Murphy picked the man up on Carmel Hill on the way to this city, and as they neared Carmel the soldier drew his gun and ordered Murphy to drive faster. The order was complied with, but on arriving at Ocean Avenue the car was stopped, Murphy informing the man that "this is as far as I go." They both jumped from the machine at the same time, and meeting in the rear of the vehicle, the soldier fired the shot in the air, and then beat it.

A posse, headed by Charlie Van Riper, got on the man's trail at once, and learning that he was riding to the Carmel River on a bicycle forcibly taken from "Did" Greene, made for the river. Herbert Hand found the bicycle near the septic tank, and saw the fugitive about half a mile away, heading in the direction of the Bay School.

Notwithstanding vigilant search by an armed party all afternoon, the man was not found, but the next morning Marshal Englund arrested him near the Criley place at Carmel Highlands.

The man was a deserter from the Army, and was turned over to the military authorities at the Monterey Presidio.

Pine Needles

Detlef Sammann has returned from his trip abroad in good health and spirits. He reports conditions in Germany unsettled so far as rehabilitation is concerned, owing to the lack of raw material for manufactures.

Phil Whiting has joined the fashionable colony at the Highlands. He will be outside man for the Carmel Villas Co.

Post-cards of Highlands. Carmel News Co.

Garnet Holmes, on his way from Los Angeles to the metropolis, visited Carmel last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Stewart, having given up the ranch in Carmel Valley, are again residents of this city. However, there remains this year's apple crop to dispose of.

Mrs. Jennie V. Cannon is here for a fortnight, to do some important work in painting.

Mr. and Mrs. Grabill are here from Sunnyvale, to remain all winter. They own a cottage here.

Mrs. Effie Scofield has returned to Carmel from a month's visit in Los Angeles with her relatives, Prof. and Mrs. Owens and family.

Mrs. W. B. Canine, whose illness has been the concern of many of her friends here, is now in Pacific Grove endeavoring to regain her health.

Today is Armistice Day. By special proclamation of Will C. Wood, Superintendent of Public Instruction, every public school in California will be closed. The local post office will be open one hour only, after the mid day mail is distributed.

Goold's Stage, Transfer and Auto Hire office now at old building across from Carmel Garage. Phone 605 W 5.

Calvin C. Hogle has purchased the interest of Herbert C. Jenks in the real estate firm of Hogle & Jenks. Mr. Jenks will engage in business in southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. William Weinmann (Marguerite Durney) motored down from their home in Alameda last week, visiting Carmel, Pebble Beach, and Highlands Inn.

Mr. Ian Coltart is again in Carmel. Since he and his wife were here several years ago he has traveled much in South America. Mrs. Coltart passed away a short time ago.

BUILDING

in its broadest sense is the natural instinct of a vast majority of all human beings.

It is my business to build what you desire, according to your price, plans, specifications.

A Splendid Exhibition

The Palace of Fine Arts, San Francisco, is once more housing a collection of pictures which is attracting very wide attention.

The collection is composed of about 130 pictures, owned for the most part by American dealers, chiefly of New York. The Italian, Flemish and German schools are works of the 15th century; the French, Dutch and English, a century or two later, while the Spanish school is represented by three of its greatest painters—Goya, El Greco and Zurbaran. It is unusual to see so many of El Greco's works that one almost forgets he is in America. There are two portraits by Zurbaran.

In time the collection covers about five centuries, and six countries are represented. All the canvases are originals, and are works of either the best known masters, their teachers or pupils or well known contemporaries. This fact enables one to group all the names about such men as Raphael, Michael Angelo, Durer, El Greco, Rembrandt, Rubens, Chardin, Reynolds, as types of schools. The last five are represented.

The exhibit remains until the 28th of this month, perhaps longer. It was brought to San Francisco by Mr. Laurvik, and expenses have been met for the most part by San Francisco citizens and organizations.

To such as are contemplating a trip to the city this collection will be an added incentive. To those who have not been abroad it will be an abbreviated continental trip, and to those who have seen the galleries it will be a revival of old memories. In any case it should be seen by all who are not bored by old treasures.

The "Greatest Mother" concept which was visualized in the famous art poster used by the American Red Cross in its second war fund campaign has had its symbolism adapted to the Red Cross works of the post-war era and will illuminate the main poster to be used in the Fourth Roll Call November 11-25. This adaptation will bear the title "Still the Greatest Mother in the World." Everyone is familiar with the original "The Greatest Mother in the World," the effectiveness of which has been shown in part by the fact that it has furnished a synonym for Red Cross that has come to almost a household term. More than any other symbol, except the red cross itself, the public has made it the trademark of the American Red Cross.

"for clean oil in a clean engine"

The motoring public has been quick to appreciate

OUR new Modern Crankcase Cleaning Service for motorists has won immediate approval. Many motorists have come to us for Modern Crankcase Cleaning Service since our first announcement last week.

It shows that motorists want to maintain their cars in perfect running condition, clean and well lubricated, and that they appreciate a service that does the work for them thoroughly and quickly for a nominal charge. It saves them the trouble, time and inconvenience of doing this necessary but dirty work themselves.

No automobile can operate at its best when lubricated with dirty oil, diluted with gasoline. Fresh oil added to the old dirty oil does not help much. The engine and crankcase should be flushed clean at frequent intervals—regularly. It is the only remedy.

The garages listed below are now equipped to do this work thoroughly and quickly for a nominal charge, and in the modern way—using Calol Flushing Oil, the correct cleansing agent—and refilling with Zerolene of the correct grade for your car.

This treatment given once to your engine will result in immediate better performance. Done regularly it will lengthen the life of your car.

In the Far East

Mrs. W. H. Wyman has arrived in China, and we are permitted to publish her interesting letter from Chefoo, as follows:

My Dear Friend:

Here I am at last—at the end of my long journey. It was all without accident of any kind and I have been perfectly well every minute of the time—not even a wave of sea sickness to break the monotony. We had no storms, though one felt the result of storms ahead of us, and at times had so high a swell that we were obliged to have our deck chairs tied to the deck to keep us from playing skittles with each other. The officers of the ship said we were midway of two typhoons between Honolulu and Japan. We only made one landing in Japan—at Yokohama. There was cholera at Nagasaki, and though we coaled there, we were not allowed to land. Of course that was a disappointment, especially to Miss Kirkham who had never been there. But there was a cool breeze blowing, and the harbor is lovely, so we didn't suffer. We only had from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. at Yokohama and spent the time at Kamakura, a real Chinese town on the seashore.

There is a lively foreign hotel there, it being a summer resort for the people of Yokohama and Tokio, where we got a delicious luncheon. We appreciated it, too, for the ship's food waxed worse and worse until we could hardly eat it. We landed at Shanghai two days early on account of being cut off at Japan, and had six days there. The weather was most awfully hot and humid so that we were obliged to do what going about we did very early in the day and after sundown, but we managed to get in a good deal by bankrupting ourselves paying "rickshaw fares." One can't ride as cheaply as of old—but even then 25c Mex. (about 18c of our money) an hour counts up. We had some auto rides with Mrs. Mills' son who lives in Shanghai; we covered a good deal of ground.

One day some friends, whose acquaintance we made on the trip, invited us out to St. John's College for Chinese boys, where Mr. King is one of the engineering dept. staff. We went for tea at four o'clock and staid till just in time to get home for dinner at eight o'clock which, by the way, is the regulation dinner hour in this country. After tea, Mr. and Mrs. King took us all around the campus to the different buildings. School had not opened yet. We also saw St. Mary's school for Chinese girls which adjoins St. John's—separated, of course by a high stone wall—lest boys and girls should get a glimpse of each other—even that doesn't satisfy the families of the girls and the school is to be moved further off.

We visited one park where there was a lotus pond covering several acres. It was lovely and of course I wanted you to see it too.

We left Shanghai Monday afternoon last, arriving here Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Mills came out on the launch to meet us and had her coolies for our baggage so we got off all right and landed on our feet here at the school. This is a charming spot—not unlike in location to Carmel—only we have no pine trees and the hills are bare and rocky. Imagine too, a long volcanic island, like a bluff running across from Lobos almost to Cypress Point, and you have Chefoo bay. We are at the Cypress point end of town up about as high from the water as your house and the grounds run down to the water's edge. Mrs. Mills has six acres and it is all under cultivation in vegetables, fruit and flowers. There are her house and also Miss Carter's (both two-story, stone buildings with broad, two-story verandas), two school buildings and various little houses for help, etc.

There is nothing near enough to shut off light, air or view. The house is large, airy and comfortable, though very plain. We each have a large room and bath; in the latter is only cold water at present but each night and morning the coolie brings us great cans of boiling hot water; later when Mrs. Mills gets her coils in we will have it all the time. As it is we are very comfortable. With a competent cook and all sorts of lovely vegetables and fruit, fish and chickens and eggs we live well, and I am afraid my belt measure stands in danger of increasing.

Mrs. Mills pays her cook $12 Mex. a month and her table and wash man $9 and they do everything—and all so quickly and without fuss. One is hardly allowed to lift one's hands to wash one's self. I am not going to get lazy though. School opens September 1st and then Mrs. Mills says I may help; she even plans for me to correct pronunciation which I can do from the Visible Speech symbols, which I find I haven't forgotten. Won't it be fun! I feel like an old war horse that smells powder. I'm too anxious to try—Mrs. Mills won't let me do anything until I am "rested" (am not a bit tired) and it gets cooler.

We have not been off the place yet because it has been too hot, but are planning a trip to town (about a mile) tomorrow morning to do some necessary shopping.

Rare Collection of Photographs Acquired By State Library

Copies, in large size, of about fifty photographs of ship figure-heads have recently been acquired by the California State Library from L. S. Stevin, a photographer of this city. A similar number of photos of the ships themselves will be sent later.

The collection consists of the "old-timers" which entered the port of San Francisco about twenty years ago, and many of these photos are no doubt the only ones in existence. In the collection is a picture of the figure-head of the fine old ship "Gloria of the Seas," the last one built by the noted ship-builder, Donald McKay, of East Boston, in 1869. In her prime she was one of the famous clippers and there is recorded to her credit a voyage from New York to San Francisco in ninety-four days, in 1874. When the photo was taken in 1900 her spars were reduced and she no longer carried the former expanse of sail. She was then engaged in the prosaic occupation of carrying coal along the coast, where speed was of no consequence. Another photo shows the handsome figure-head of the ship "America," built at Quincy, Mass., in 1874.

It is interesting to note that occasionally we have visitors in Carmel who have known some of the old ships, among them three who had commanded them, and who were much pleased and surprised to find the photos of their ships here, in one instance, about thirty-five years after.

Mr. Stevin was interested in "gathering" these photos when a boy, realizing that they would become a rare collection, and we congratulate him on his foresight in preserving these unique records of our old ships.

Free Is Grateful

San Jose, Nov. 4, 1920
Mr. W. L. Overstreet,
Editor, Carmel Pine Cone.

My dear sir:
My heart is overflowing with thanks. In response to a request from friends, I entered the race for Congress, never dreaming that the result would be so gratifying.

I owe my heartfelt thanks to you for the assistance which you gave me. I realize the responsibility which I have assumed, and prayerfully hope that I may so conduct myself that you will not regret that you helped me to win this great victory.

Accept my sincere thanks, and I hope I may seek your further counsel and advice in endeavoring to do my best for our State and Nation.

Sincerely, A. M. Free
